From the Chairman

JAMES H. CAVANAUGH

Spring is in the air and the resurgence of activities feels extra full of life as we continue to emerge from a global pandemic. This is the time of year that I enjoy being in Orange County and able to regularly attend events at the Nixon Library in Yorba Linda. From black tie fundraising galas to book talks and everything in-between, I have been reflecting on the high-quality of the programming from a thriving events calendar.

Consistently implementing a full schedule of high-quality and varied programming requires a dedicated and talented staff. I would like to recognize the Nixon Foundation staff for being resilient, remaining relevant and keeping the Foundation engaged in the community. I can't help but notice the contrast between this issue of the newsletter and the last one from Summer 2021. Last year, when we were unable to meet in person, we pivoted to virtual events that reached national audiences and blood drives that resulted in over 1,700 usable units of blood and potentially 5,100 lives saved.

In this issue we celebrate a full calendar of events in Yorba Linda. With each event, the dedicated staff is behind-the-scenes, breathing life into the mission of the Richard Nixon Foundation. From sold-out book launches of best-selling authors to a forward-thinking policy conference these events are engaging, educational and first-rate.

While the events have varied they carry the same theme of reflecting on the past while looking ahead to the future. During the inaugural National Cancer Conference, Nobel laureates and other leaders in the field of cancer research gathered to discuss the ongoing impact of the National Cancer Act of 1971. The White House Historical Association joined us for the first-ever West Coast launch of the Official Christmas Ornament—a tribute to First Lady Pat Nixon's unheralded White House contributions. During the 50th anniversary of "the week that changed the world" we launched a year of programming centered around President Nixon's historic trip to China with a commemorative celebration.

Continuing the momentum, excitement is building for our upcoming special exhibit Cold War: Soviets, Spies and Secrets. Opening July 4th, this interactive exhibit will be an engaging and immersive experience that emphasizes the importance of understanding the past to evaluate current events.

More announcements are on the way this year as the Board and Jim Byron's team remain dedicated to increasing the public's awareness of President Nixon's legacy both in Orange County and throughout the country. Stay connected to be the first to know about these exciting initiatives.

Jim Byron Elected President and CEO of the Nixon Foundation

28-year-old succeeds Hugh Hewitt, who remains on the Board

Jim Byron, a 28-year-old nonprofit executive whose career with the Nixon Foundation began in 2007 as a 14-year-old marketing intern, was unanimously elected last November as President, CEO, and a member of the Board of Directors of the Richard Nixon Foundation.

Hugh Hewitt, who served as President and CEO beginning in July 2019, will remain an active member of the Board of Directors and continue to have a key role in much of the Foundation's advancement and long-range initiatives.

"There is no one better than Jim to succeed me," Hugh Hewitt said. "It is clear to everyone that Jim is the best person possible for this job, representing the next generation of civic leaders and tasked with leading President Nixon's Foundation for many years into the future. Jim has my full support, and I'm standing by if he needs assistance or advice from an aging radio host."

"I am honored to be invited to serve the legacy of President and Mrs. Nixon in this new role," Byron said. "The full effect of President Nixon's life is becoming more apparent with time. It's now clear that all Americans are legatees of President Nixon; his was a life of immense consequence that shaped the world I grew up in, and I'm excited to lead the effort to teach and inspire new generations with this information — though I have very, very big shoes to fill."

Chairman James Cavanaugh said, "President Nixon hired and inspired young people to serve in his administration and to advance his agenda, many of whom went on to enjoy very successful careers. Jim Byron represents the next generation of that type of individual: energetic, creative, decisive, and forward-thinking with management skills far beyond his years."

Byron is a native of Santa Monica, California and grew up in Orange County. He is a graduate of Chapman University, where he earned his Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration with a Minor in History. Byron is the author of A President Comes Home, the official Nixon Library commemorative book and a history of the Nixon Presidential Library (2018). He lives in Costa Mesa and enjoys playing tennis and golf. ★

50TH ANNIVERSARY of President Nixon's Trip to China

On February 24th more than 300 leaders of the Southern California Chinese-American community gathered to recreate the dinner hosted in honor of President and Mrs. Nixon by Chinese Premier Zhou Enlai 50 years ago in the Great Hall of the People.

A video message from Dr. Henry Kissinger—President Nixon's key partner in the development and implementation of the trip to China—began the evening's program. The gala raised over $800,000 to support the educational mission of the Foundation.

In-person remarks were delivered by current and former American and Chinese government officials and diplomats including The Honorable Elaine Chao, 24th U.S. Secretary of Labor and 18th U.S. Secretary of Transportation and the first Chinese American to be appointed to a President's cabinet in American history, former U.S. Ambassador to the PRC Stapleton Roy, and PRC Ambassador to the United States Qin Gang in his first visit to the U.S. West Coast.

The event was full of historic tributes in every detail. The seven-course menu catered by Shanghaiander Palace was bursting with symbolism. The evening's festivities included an hour-long performance of music, dance and theater to highlight the fusion of the American and Chinese cultures today. Additionally, ping-pong players treated guests to demonstrations as a tribute to the Ping-Pong Diplomacy that helped pave the way for the Nixons' historic visit.

The 50th anniversary celebration kicked off a year's worth of programming to commemorate "The Week That Changed The World," culminating in a National Policy Conference in Washington, D.C., November 2022. The programming has very generously been underwritten by Ming and Eva Hsieh and Charlie and Ling Zhang. ★

ARCHITECTS OF PEACE

Secretary Pompeo and Ambassador O'Brien Given Architect of Peace Award

On October 14, 2021, 250 friends, benefactors and admirers gathered in the Nixon Library's East Room to pay tribute to two men whose names now join an elite pantheon of notable Architects of Peace: former Secretary of State Mike Pompeo and former National Security Adviser Robert C. O'Brien.

The awards were given for their work developing and implementing both the 2020 Abraham Accords and the 2020 Serbia-Kosovo economic normalization agreements, as well as their oversight of the repatriation of more than 50 American hostages detained abroad.

In accepting their awards, both the Secretary and the Ambassador stressed pragmatism over ideology, as well as the need to work with American allies and adversaries from a position of strength and take concrete steps to deter aggression.

The Architect of Peace Award was established in 1995 shortly after President Nixon's death and is given to individuals who embody his lifelong goal of shaping a more peaceful world.

Among the 250 guests were such notables as Governor and Mrs. Pete Wilson—the Governor is a longtime member of the Nixon Foundation Board—four members of Congress, Academy Award winning actor Jon Voight, and Hollywood icons Mary Hart and Burt Sugarman. Pastor Greg Laurie of Harvest Christian Fellowship delivered the evening's invocation. The Architect of Peace Gala raised nearly $450,000 to support the ongoing works of the Foundation. ★

WHITE HOUSE TRADITIONS

Official 2022 White House Christmas Ornament Unveiled at the Nixon Library

Presidents Day is always one of the most popular days at the Nixon Library but this year history was made with the first West Coast unveiling of the Official 2022 White House Christmas Ornament. The ornament celebrates the White House traditions of the 37th President Richard Nixon and First Lady Pat Nixon. The iconic gingerbread design pays homage to the fact that the official White House gingerbread house became an annual Christmas tradition during the Nixon administration when, in 1969, Mrs. Nixon asked Assistant Executive Chef Hans Raffert to create a gingerbread house to display prominently in the State Dining Room. Other treasured Christmas traditions established by Mrs. Nixon included introducing poinsettia trees to the holiday décor, resurrecting the tradition of hanging wreaths in each of the windows facing Pennsylvania Avenue and initiating Christmas candlelight tours.

Stewart McLaurin, President of the White House Historical Association and Jim Byron, President of the Richard Nixon Foundation joined five presidents and Nixon Foundation Board Member Christopher Nixon Cox in a countdown to reveal the design of this year's ornament.

The Official 2022 White House Christmas Ornament pays tribute to the White House gingerbread tradition started by First Lady Pat Nixon in 1969.

Top: President Lincoln shows off this year's ornament in its commemorative box. Bottom: Five presidents joined White House Historical Association President Stewart McLaurin and Nixon Foundation Board Member Christopher Nixon Cox in a countdown to reveal the design of this year's ornament.

Event attendees from a packed East Room were able to be among the first to purchase the ornament which comes presented as a beautifully gift-boxed keepsake with a gingerbread scented booklet and recipe card featuring a gingerbread recipe from First Lady Pat Nixon's time at the White House. In honor of Presidents Day, museum visitors also received cherry pie from Polly's Pies and were able to interact with President Washington, President Lincoln, President Teddy Roosevelt, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and President Andrew Jackson.

The festivities kicked off a year-long partnership with the White House Historical Association that will illuminate the Nixons' White House legacy through educational programming. ★

The Official 2022 White House Christmas Ornament can be purchased at the Nixon Library Gift Shop or online at store.nixonfoundation.org throughout the year.

WHEN “PANDA-MONIUM” CREATED A NATIONAL ICON

Just two months after viewing the pandas at the Peking Zoo, First Lady Pat Nixon welcomed a pair of giant pandas to the National Zoo in Washington, DC as an act of goodwill diplomacy from the Chinese.

THIS APRIL MARKS THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY of the arrival of a pair of Giant Pandas to the National Zoo in Washington, D.C. This followed President and Mrs. Nixon’s historic trip to the People’s Republic of China in February 1972, which set the stage for normalization of relations between the two nations.

This first example of panda diplomacy was a direct result of First Lady Pat Nixon’s encounter with Giant Pandas at the Peking Zoo. At a state banquet later in the trip she noticed a picture of pandas on a container of cigarettes and remarked to Chinese Premier Zhou En-Lai, “Aren’t they cute? I love them.” He responded, “I’ll give you some.”

Just two months later a pair of Giant Pandas, Ling-Ling and Hsing-Hsing, arrived to their new home with much fanfare. News articles remarked on the substantial security provided for the furry ambassadors. Over 20,000 people joined the First Lady to welcome the pandas to the zoo.

“Here at the National Zoo they will be enjoyed by the millions of people who come from across the country to visit the nation’s capital each year,” Mrs. Nixon said in a ceremony on April 16, 1972. Wearing a panda pin on her lapel, she declared that “Panda-monium” had broken out at the Zoo.

The First Lady was right. An estimated 1.1 million people came to visit the pandas in their first year at the zoo, and they have remained the Zoo’s top attraction for nearly 50 years. The historic arrival of the first pandas in the United States paved the way for the National Zoo to become a leader in panda education and conservation while the panda habitat remains one of the most popular attractions in the Nation’s capital. ★

The story concludes with startling new insights and conclusions about the scandal that ended the Nixon presidency.

GEOFF SHEPARD Author of The Nixon Conspiracy: Watergate and the Plot to Remove the President

Geoff Shepard, launched his shocking new exposé The Nixon Conspiracy: Watergate and the Plot to Remove the President, a challenge to everything you know about the Watergate scandal nearly 50 years after the notorious break-in.

EDUCATION IN ACTION

One Year of Nixon Seminars

This month the Nixon Foundation commemorates one year of The Nixon Seminar on Conservative Realism and National Security, a monthly gathering of senior statesmen and rising specialists in various aspects of great power competition and American national security.

In one year, The Seminar discussed topics ranging from Big Tech and China to the war in Ukraine, reaching more than 2.5 million impressions through Twitter and social media platforms and generating headlines across the mainstream media.

The Seminar members had opportunities to interact with special guests Dr. Henry Kissinger and legendary tech visionary Peter Thiel.

Perhaps most importantly, The Nixon Seminar has taken its place as one of the Nixon Foundation's key educational programs—both for the 15 participating Seminar Members as they interact with and learn from one another to paint a picture of what a foreign policy in the next administration might look like, and for those watching the live streams and playbacks on YouTube.

Our special thanks to all of those whose ongoing generosity ensures that this educational program will continue through 2022 and beyond. ★

Nixon Seminar participants include co-chairs Mike Pompeo and Robert O'Brien, Honorary Chair Dr. Henry Kissinger, and emerging national security experts.
